Membership in this Church is understood to be a covenantal relationship in which members come together as a community to learn and grow, to worship and serve, and to grieve and celebrate. Members agree to participate in the life of the Church and to support it with their gifts of time, talent, care, and money. The Church, in turn, pledges to support each member's spiritual journey by making possible rich and varied opportunities for shared worship, religious exploration, community service, social justice, and social action.

(b) Members. Any person eighteen years of age or older may become a member of the Church by signing the membership book in the presence of a minister, provided that the person meets all of the following requirements:

Children of members (up to the age of eighteen years) shall enjoy all the rights and responsibilities of membership in this Church, as is appropriate for their age, with the exception of voting. Parents (guardians) shall be encouraged to bring their children to Church on a regular basis and to participate as a family in worship, religious exploration, stewardship and community service, as circumstances permit. In turn, the Church pledges to welcome and involve children and families in the life of the congregation.

(f) Youth Membership. Youth may become members by completing an orientation program (such as "Coming of Age") and signing the membership book in the presence of a minister. The expectation for an annual pledge or financial contribution of record and the privilege of voting will not be active until the youth turns eighteen.

Members who have been active in the life of the Church for many years but have ceased to participate because of advanced age, frailty, illness, or other difficulty will retain their place on our membership roster and all privileges of membership. Eligibility for continuing membership shall be determined in accordance with the Board's membership policy.

(2) If the Board determines that a particular agenda item will be subject only to a “Yes” or “No” vote (that is, that no amendments shall be accepted from the floor), it shall include that limitation in the notice. If such an agenda item is not approved at the membership meeting, it shall be returned to the Board for reconsideration. However, typographical and mathematical errors and omissions may be corrected at the meeting.

The deadline for receiving ballots (and other requirements applicable to absentee voting) shall be specified in a Board policy. Proxy voting is not permitted.
